Dietz's Diamond Oil.

WE NOW OFFER TO THE PUBLIC in full confidence a new article of

KEROSENE OIL,

Which we warrant in every particular to be

Superior to any other Oil ever brought to the San Francisco market. It has been thoroughly tested in all the different Patent Coal Oil Burners, and found to produce by one-third, than any other oil in use.

Among the many advantages of this KEROSENE OIL over other oils, is: First that it is perfectly NON-EXPLOSIVE, and can be used with perfect safety in all kinds of LAMPS. Second, It is free from all objectionable and unpleasant smells, and burns with a clear white brilliant flame. We cordially solicit the public and FAMILIES to give the Oil a trial, and once tried, we feel confident it will gain a preference over all other Oil for economy as well as its superior burning qualities.

In order to protect ourselves against Counterfeits we have placed a brand on each can and case, which will be known as

DIETZ'S DIAMOND OIL.

It is now offered at wholesale and retail at 503 Front street,

Between Washington and Jackson streets,

And at Branch Store, 56 Second street
2d door from Mission, San Francisco.

A. C. DIETZ & CO.

We have on hand a large stock of which we are selling at New York prices. Also,

Camphene, Coal Oil Fluid,
95 per ct. Alcohol, Turpentine,
Lard, Sperm, Polar, Rape Seed,
Neat's-Foot, Linseed, China,
and other Oils, etc., etc.

Country Dealers supplied on the most liberal terms.

With the stars of a Union unbroken and true
Arise and defend it [illegible]
Whose blood bought the banner [illegible]

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 12, 1862.

The National Epoch

The past history of the nation is dwarfed by the events of to-day. Our revolutionary struggle, our wars with England and Mexico sink into insignificance when compared with the fiery trial through which we are now passing. The first century of our national existence will hereafter seem but the infancy of youth, the halcyon days of the Republic. Henceforth we shall date from the Great Rebellion. It is the epoch of the nation.

In the excitements of the hour we lose sight of the magnitude of the events transpiring around us. Stirring as are the movements of the day, it is their far reaching consequences, rather than their present aspect, which should most claim our thoughtful consideration. It is a stupendous sight to see a million of men in deadly conflict on so magnificent an arena as our country presents, but the birth of a new era is an event of far greater magnitude. The nation is entering upon a new existence. We leave the past behind us. Those who still look backward to old party strifes, old issues and conflicts, have no adequate conception of the times in which we live. The past will never come back to us; dead parties will never be revived; we enter upon a new order of things, and the only direction in which the enlightened patriot can look, is forward.

Among the great results of the contest is the development of the national strength. Heretofore the Republic has been only in the gristle of youth, its rapid growth preventing the concentration of its powers; now it enters upon the maturity of manhood, all its frame knitting firmly together. Like a giant leaping, the nation awakes and finds itself strong. Strong not merely in numbers, in the magnitude of its armies, in its material and inventive resources, but strong in the courage and endurance of its men, in the fortitude and self-sacrificing devotion of its women. The deeds of heroism now enacting will long emblazon the page of history. Greater daring, more skillful strategy, greater fertility of resources, have never been displayed by any people. Hereafter we are to be a military nation. Even the discipline of household sorrow, wives and mothers mourning for their dead, will strengthen us for greater endurance.

But the highest result of this contest must be the firmer establishment of the principles of political equality upon which our government is based. More than the war of the Revolution, this is a struggle between the democratic and aristocratic elements of society. Upon the one side is the equality of the North, on the other, the ruling class of the South. The Southern Confederacy is confessedly based on the principle of the inequality of man's natural rights. Its aristocracy is in rebellion against democracy. The ruling classes in Europe sympathize with the South, the people with the North. The power of this aristocracy is to be crushed, it will be crushed, for nothing else can give peace to the nation.

In view of the great consequences which are to flow from the events of to-day, of the new epoch of our national history upon which we are now entering, we should endeavor to elevate our thoughts to the standard of the times, and throwing aside all petty animosities, all partisan prejudices, all old grudges and narrow sectional views, give all the powers we have to the support of the government in this hour of its utmost need and fiery trial.

FROM THE DALLES.—The Julia arrived last evening about 8 o'clock from the Cascades. We have received the Mountaineer of June 11th from which we learn that the water there is now fully four feet above the high water mark of '61. Much damage has been sustained in consequence, and more will inevitably result. Thus far, only one house has been washed away, but the water on Main street is sufficiently deep to float a steamboat. Many of the citizens of that place are living in tents and under brush arbors, [illegible] having been driven out of their homes by the waters.

The railroad at the Cascades is now impassable, a considerable portion of it being under water. No portion of it has [illegible] away, and it is thought that the [illegible] rocks on the planking will [illegible] much serious injury.

No boat started up to the Cascades this morning, as the Oregon Steam Navigation Company will only run their boats every other day until the high waters subside.

THE GOLD [illegible] STEAMER.—The New York Tribune of a recent date mentions the fact that the light draught steamboat Shreveport left St. Louis May 1st for Fort Benton, the [illegible] of Missouri and Washington Territory. She is to stay at Fort Benton until Fall, giving her passengers time to cross the Rocky mountains and prospect in various directions. Some of them intend to establish a settlement at Bitter Root Valley; others expect to visit the newly discovered mines in Washington Territory. Some will probably proceed to British Columbia. The Tribune adds:

There are some sixty or eighty of them in all, mostly men of wealth; some of them old gold miners of California. The machinery of a grist mill and that of a saw mill [illegible] among the freight. Provisions, supplies for the U. S. post at Fort Benton, Indian goods, fire-arms, etc., are of course on the list. Captain Labarge takes his family with him and a full crew, including ten mountaineers, who intend to stop in the country. The Emilie, Capt. Labarge, jr., will follow on the 8th of May. The distance by the river to the Falls of the Missouri must be nearer three thousand than two thousand miles from St. Louis. The region of the Upper Missouri is destined to attract emigration directly after the close of the present war. It is far better timbered, better watered, and has a better soil than the valleys of the Platte and upper Arkansas, while its climate, owing to the influence of Pacific winds, is far milder than that of the Upper Mississippi. Gold and other minerals are being found at various points, and will soon attract crowds of adventurers. A new Territory on the Upper Missouri and Yellow Stone will doubtless be organized within the next five or six years.

A GUNNER'S STORY.—The following story is told by the correspondent of the Chicago Times with Foote's flotilla:

Among the deserters who have reached the flotilla is Samuel Sampson, formerly gunner's mate on board the Confederate gunboat Gen. Polk. He has a hard story to relate, and I never listened to so painful a narrative as he told me on board the gunboat Benton, a day or two since. For three months the poor fellow was kept in irons and exposed to all the changes of weather by being bound to the deck of the General Polk. A rebel naval officer had preferred charges against him, specifying certain acts of mutiny, disobedience to orders, etc. Commodore Hollins convened a court martial, but the court never sat, and Sampson has lain in chains. A few nights ago, assisted by one of his fellow mariners, he cast the chains away, and then jumped overboard and swam ashore. He reached the Arkansas side in safety, and the next morning hailed one of the transports, by which he was taken aboard the Benton, where he is now. If anything were needed to corroborate his narrative, it is a copy of the charges and specifications, and of the order calling a court martial, signed by Hollins' own autograph. Sampson was formerly a sailor on board a merchant vessel sailing out of New York. The commencement of the rebellion found him at New Orleans, and having no other resource, he was compelled to enter the Confederate naval service.

Gen. Prentiss surrendered himself personally to private Simons of Capt. Bethel's company, of the 22d Tennessee regiment, at the battle of Shiloh, who conducted him to Col. Freeman. The Colonel receiving his sword, returned it, and introduced him to his regiment. When the regiment discovered the quality of their captive they vociferously cheered him. Gen. Prentiss graciously acknowledged the compliment by doffing his hat and in the politest manner possible, said "Boys, you have a right to shout, for you have fought like tigers."

The rebel Government have hung a man in Richmond, a loyal citizen of the United States, charged with a national spy. The U. S. Government last winter, arrested one Smithson, a Washington City banker, on the most indubitable evidence that he was a Confederate spy and communicated treasonable matter daily to Jeff Davis. Smithson was consigned to Fort Lafayette, but since the rebel Government has set the example of hanging such offenders, it has been proposed to our Government to retaliate by hanging Smithson.

REBEL CURRENCY.—The rebel Congress has been amusing itself with the invention of a new series of coins. The Charleston Courier gives this account:

"The basis of integral limit of value proposed for our currency, is the star—which is to be divided into one hundred equal parts, each part to be called a centime, namely: 10 centimes, 1 tropic; 10 tropics, 1 star; 10 stars, 1 sol. These denominations for our currency have been selected for three reasons: First, they are appropriate to ourselves as a people; second, they are emblems of [illegible] honesty of purpose, solidity and stability; and third, the words used are simple, easily remembered, and are common to several languages."

HOW NEW YORK STANDS THE WAR.—The great Empire State has furnished 106,000 [illegible] to the Union army, yet despite the withdrawal of so many from active industrial pursuits the State tax for 1862 is less by nearly one fourth than it was in 1861, and the public debt is steadily decreasing. The tax for State purposes is only three mills on the dollar, added to which the tax for national purposes to meet the Federal war tax, is two mills.

[illegible] The Indians living on the Umatilla Reservation are said to have in their possession a large amount of gold dust. When questioned as to where they obtain the treasure, they indicate the head of the Grand Ronde as the locality. The gold they have [illegible] taken from crevices, and if the [illegible] is to be believed, good mines will be found somewhere near the head of the Grand Ronde River.—Mountaineer.

STRASBURG, June 2.—Fremont with a strong column left Franklin, Pendleton county, last Sunday, crossed the Shenandoah Mountains, marching nearly [illegible] and with very little means of transportation.

This morning, five miles from Strasburg, he overtook Jackson's rear [illegible] the enemy [illegible] artillery posted [illegible] as soon as the [illegible]

[illegible] from [illegible] line of battle. Jackson retreated. Twenty five prisoners [illegible]

WASHINGTON, June [illegible].—Advices from the army of the Potomac dated yesterday afternoon show there was no fighting yesterday. Our advance is [illegible] in front of the position occupied before Saturday's battle.

[illegible] Saturday [illegible] South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia [illegible] attacking Casey's division [illegible] the [illegible] leading over the Bottom Bridge [illegible] The fight was disastrous [illegible] Casey's division was forced to retire before superior numbers [illegible] camp equipage. [illegible] of the New York and Pennsylvania troops behaved badly [illegible] Some of the [illegible] were [illegible] totally [illegible] Heintzelman's division coming up charged the rebels with the bayonet, driving them back [illegible] and regaining the [illegible] ground [illegible] when night closed the operation.

Sumner [illegible] the Chickahominy taking position [illegible] Heintzelman [illegible] They encountered Longstreet's, Rains' and Huger's divisions, comprising the flower of the Southern army, contesting every inch hotly. The enemy [illegible] but in every [illegible] The divisions did [illegible] the rebels at every point.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Tribune's correspondence says the rebels suffered terribly [illegible] this as well as the previous day [illegible] well directed fire of our artillery, which strewed the ground with slain. [illegible] to them were the frequent charges of our solid columns driving them back step by step to the last point of endurance, when they broke and ran [illegible] leaving behind many officers and men as prisoners.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Dispatches received at the War Department from Halleck's headquarters says that Gen. Pope with 40,000 men, is 30 miles south of Corinth, pushing the enemy hard. He already reports he has taken many prisoners and 15,000 stand of arms. Thousands of the enemy were throwing away their arms. Our information also says that Beauregard, on learning that the railroad [illegible] had been cut off, became frantic and told his men to save themselves as best they could. We captured nine locomotives and a number of cars. One of the locomotives is already in running order. Several more will be captured in a few days. The result is all that I could desire.

CHICAGO, June 2.—The Memphis Appeal of 26th May contains dispatches from Vicksburg of 25th May, which says the Union fleet steamed close to the city. Their gunboats are within firing distance.

Specials to the Tribune from Harper's Ferry, says operations here Thursday and Friday reflect great credit on General Saxton, and but for his efforts Jackson's forces would have pushed over the railroad bridge towards Baltimore.

Gen. Sigel has been appointed the command of Harper's Ferry, and was received with great enthusiasm.

CHICAGO, June [illegible].—The loss of the Federals, wounded and killed, in the two days fight near Richmond, were three thousand.

It is understood in Washington that the greater portion of Jackson's army made their escape down the valley of Virginia. Fremont's fight was with the rear guard.

[illegible] CONFIDENCE.—In a recent speech in the House, Mr. Crittenden paid this handsome compliment to the President:

I voted against Mr. Lincoln and opposed him honestly and sincerely. But Mr. Lincoln has won me to his side. There is a niche in the temple of fame, a niche near to Washington, which should be occupied by him who saves the country. Mr. Lincoln has a mighty [illegible] If he [illegible] will [illegible] step in to that niche. It is for him to be President of the people of the United States, and there will his statue be [illegible] It is in his power to occupy a place next to Washington, the founder and preserver side by side.

[illegible] THE SAINTS.—A large body of Mormons is on the way from the Eastern States to Salt Lake. The Saints at Deseret have fitted out and started to meet them, learning that they are in want, a train of 244 wagons drawn by 2,080 oxen, driven by 267 [illegible] guarded by 20 persons, who attend [illegible] duty alone [illegible] 45 lbs [illegible] Eighteen more wagons are to be started [illegible] the large amount of [illegible] that has been forwarded.

GEN. SCOTT'S OPINIONS.—Gen. Scott is living quietly at Elizabeth, N. J. He stated to a gentleman who visited him on the 4th of May that the war will be virtually ended by the 1st of July next. He expresses the utmost confidence that by that time Gen. McClellan will have completely subdued and driven the rebels from the field. He also expresses the utmost admiration of the manner in which the President and the Secretary of State have managed their share of the responsibilities of the times.

A TERRIBLE BOMBARDMENT.—A letter from an officer in Fort Jackson, in the New Orleans Bulletin, states the Federal fleet in its attack upon that fort averaged one shell every twelve seconds, or five a minute, for nearly seventy hours.

CITY.

MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

THE DAILY OREGONIAN may be had at the [illegible] Book Store, and at Charles Barrett's, Front street.

THE FLOOD.—The Willamette has continued to rise at the rate of about a quarter of an inch per hour for the last twenty-four hours, and the water is now about two feet on Front street, at the Pioneer Hotel. [illegible] all the stores and dwellings in the lower part of town, except those situated upon [illegible], have been vacated, the water in many of them being from two inches to four feet deep on the first floor. Front street from Washington down is now impassable for drays, and in many places almost impassable for footmen. [illegible] are built on one side of the street, close to the houses, upon which those who are [illegible] to travel down street can make their way along. Many goods and wares in the [illegible] below are now covered in water, while merchants on Front and First streets, as far up as Alder, are packing their goods upon counters, boxes, barrels, &c., fearing that a few more inches rise will yet come, which will flood their floors. The Street Commissioner has caused considerable quantities of [illegible] to be hauled and thrown upon the planking in several places, to prevent the water from bursting it up and otherwise damaging the street. Gum boots are in demand. We notice those who are suspected of being web-footed seem to be in the height of their glory. Fortunate for them that they are provided with the means of speedy transportation, otherwise they would be in a [illegible].

[illegible].—We are informed that the brick building occupied by Cahn & Co., on Front and [illegible] streets, has began to sink down at one [illegible] and fears are entertained that the building will yet fall. Other large brick buildings in that locality have also given signs of settling down in the mud. Great damage has already occurred to the streets and buildings. There is no estimating what the damage [illegible] be should the water continue as high or higher than it now is, for a week or more.

CITY COUNCIL.—Council met last evening. [illegible] full board.

Ordinance to prevent the spread of contagious and dangerous diseases, read a third time and passed.

Ordinance relative to the grading of Washington street from Second to Sixth streets; read first and second time.

Street Commissioner was directed to proceed with the securing of the tops to cisterns.

Resolution passed instructing City Surveyor to report at next meeting of Council upon the grading of Washington from Second to Sixth [illegible].

FALSE ALARM.—A false alarm of fire was [illegible] last night by some "scallywag," who was probably badly frightened over a little [illegible] of a "knock down" at the Franklin [illegible]. Several of the boys got half drowned and one or two seriously hurt, while plunging over the raised and floating planks in the [illegible]. The fellow that caused the alarm ought to get a good ducking.

THE ELECTION.—No further election returns have been received. McBride's majority so far 2705; Gibbs, 3079. The reported [illegible] in Coos, Curry, Tilamook, Umpqua and Clatsop, will add 300 more.

[illegible] HOTEL.—We are pleased to notice that this establishment is now being refitted and put in order for the accommodation of [illegible] and visitors, in a very neat and comfortable style, by Messrs. P. B. Sinnott & [illegible]. This house can now be regarded as a first class hotel, in the very center of the business portion of this city, and in the immediate vicinity of the principal river and stage landings. Messrs. Sinnott & Bros. are experienced hotel-keepers, and we doubt not that [illegible] who stop with them will find comfortable and pleasant accommodations.

NOT UNREASONABLE.—Colonel Forney, of [illegible], expects to realize the following state [illegible]:

"We hope, not without reason, on our forthcoming tour through the Southern States to hear the characteristic accent of the New Englander in all the villages. We expect to read our peculiar literature by the light of a Pennsylvania oil lamp, and hear the ticking of a Connecticut clock in a good old inn, [illegible] by a Massachusetts publican."

Commodore Foote is a very religious man, [illegible] well known. Some one says that the [illegible], who are feeling his bombs, must think he belongs to the "hard-shell Baptists."

PUBLIC NOTICE.

The citizens of Portland are respectfully requested to meet at the Common Council Room this THURSDAY EVENING, to make the requisite arrangements for a proper celebration in this City of the approaching anniversary of the DECLARATION OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE.

This call has been issued in pursuance of the direction given at the meeting of our citizens on Saturday evening last.

How to Earn a Home.

The other evening I came home with an extra ten dollar bill in my pocket—money that I had earned by out of doors work. I am a clerk in a down town store, at a salary of $ 00 per annum, and a pretty wife and baby to support out of it.

I suppose this income will sound meagre to small to your two and three thousand dollar holders, but nevertheless, we contrive to live very comfortably upon it. We live in a little house, an unpretending little house for which we pay $150 per annum, and Kitty, my wife, you will understand, does all her own work, so that we lay up a neat little sum every year. I've a balance of two or three hundred dollars at the savings bank, the hoard of several years, and it is astonishing how rich I feel. Why Rothschild himself isn't a circumstance to me.

Well, I came home with my extra bill, and showed it triumphantly to Kitty, who of course, was delighted with my industry and thrift.

"Now, my love," said I, "just add this to our account at the bank, and with interest to the end of the year."

Forthwith, I commenced casting interest, and calculated in my brain. Kitty was silent, and rocked the cradle, musingly, with her foot.

"I've been thinking, Harry," said she, after a moment's pause, "that, since you've got this extra money, we might afford to buy a new rug— This is getting dreadful shabby, my dear, you must see."

I looked dolefully at the rug; it was worn and shabby enough, that was a fact.

"I can get a beautiful new velvet pattern for seven dollars," responded my wife.

"Velvet—seven dollars," groaned I.

"Well, then, a common tufted rug like this would cost only three," said my cautious better half, who, seeing she couldn't carry her first ambitious point, wisely withdrew her guns.

"That's more sensible," said I. "We'll see about it."

"And there is another thing I want," continued my wife, putting her head coaxingly upon my shoulders, "and it is not at all extravagant either."

"What is it?" I asked, softening rapidly.

"I saw such a lovely silk pattern on Canal street this morning, and I can get it for six dollars—only six dollars, Harry! It's the cheapest thing I ever saw."

"But have'nt you got a very pretty green dress, Kitty?"

"Why, Harry, I've worn it ever since we were married."

"Is it soiled or ragged?"

"No, of course not; but who wants to wear the same old dress forever! Everybody knows it is the only silk I have."

"Well, what then?"

"That's just a man's question," pouted Kitty. "And I suppose you have not observed how old fashioned my bonnet is getting?"

"Why I thought it looked very neat and tasteful since you put on that black velvet winter trimming."

"Of course—you men have no taste in such matters, at all."

We were silent for a moment. I'm afraid we both felt a little cross and out of humor with one another. In fact, on my journey home, I had entertained serious thoughts of exchanging my old silver watch for a more modern time piece of gold, and had mentally appropriated the ten dollars to further that purpose. Savings bank reflections had come later.

As we sat before the fire, each wrapped in thought, our neighbor, Mr. Wilmot, knocked at the door. He was employed in the same store as myself, and his wife was an old family friend.

"I want you to congratulate me," he said, as he took a seat, "I have purchased that little cottage out on the Bloomingdale road to day."

"What! that beautiful little wooden cottage, with the piazza, lawn and fruit garden behind?" exclaimed Kitty, almost enviously.

"Is it possible?" I cried. A little cottage home of my own, just like that I had often admired on the Bloomingdale road, had always been the crowning ambition of my life—a constant and almost hopeless point, but no less earnestly desired.

"Wilmot," said I, "how did this happen?— You've only been in business eight or ten years longer than I and at a salary but a trifle larger, yet I could as soon purchase a mint as buy cottage like that."

"Well," said my neighbor, "we have all been working to this end for years. My wife has darned, patched, mended and saved—we have lived on plain fare, and done with the cheapest things. But the magic charm of the whole affair was, that we laid aside every penny that was not needed by actual and positive want. Yes, I have seen my wife lay by red coppers, one by one. Times are hard, you know, just now, the owner was not what you call an economical man, and he was glad to sell even at a moderate price. So you see that even hard times help me."

When our neighbor was gone, Kitty and I looked meaningly at each other.

"Harry," said she, "the rug isn't so bad after all, and my green silk will do a year longer, with care."

"And a silver watch is quite as good for all practical purposes as a gold repeater," said I.— "We will set aside all imaginary wants."

"The ten dollar bill must go to the bank," said Kitty, "and I'll economize the coppers just as Mrs. Wilmot did. Oh, how happy she will be among the roses in that cottage garden next spring!"

Our merry tea kettle sung as a cheerful little song over the glowing fire that night, and its burden was, "Economy, and a home of our own amid the roses and country air."

Land Measure.—One acre is comprised in 208¾ feet square, half an acre in 147⅓ feet square, fourth of an acre in 104⅓ feet square, an eighth of an acre in 73⅘ feet square. Every farmer by observing this rule can set off any of these quantities of ground accurately without trouble.

Good Advice.—Enjoy to day, for to morrow the first gray hairs may come.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S

Private Medical & Surgical Institute,

SACRAMENTO STREET, BELOW MONTGOMERY,

Opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Office, San Francisco.

ESTABLISHED IN 1854 FOR THE PERMANENT cure of all Chronic and Private Diseases, and the SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY. Attending and Resident Physician, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., late in the Hungarian Revolutionary War, Chief Physician to the 20th Regiment of Honveds, Chief Surgeon to the Military Hospital of Pesth, Hungary, the late Lecturer on Diseases of the Genito Urinary Organs and Diseases of Women and Children, and Honorary Member of the Philadelphia College of Medicine.

☞ Particular attention paid to the treatment of diseases peculiar to Women and Children.

Office Hours—From 9 [illegible] M

☞ Communications strictly confidential. Permanent cure guaranteed or no pay. Consultations by letter or otherwise FREE.

Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY San Francisco.

Of all diseases, the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted!

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases—Self Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, Diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Disease, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing, or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness and free from mercury or balsam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands who in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private Diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected—a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons who not only fail to cure the disease but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed upon the children, who are born with feeble constitutions, and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system—drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering, down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self abuse that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices my patients can be restored to robust vigorous health.

[illegible] Czapkay [illegible] fifteen years of practice [illegible] thousands of [illegible] cures [illegible]

With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that one under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

MARYSVILLE, June 24, 18[illegible]

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute, with my constitution, as I thought, broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do [illegible] to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and [illegible] everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from these symptoms and the removal of those sores and [illegible] from my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the [illegible] page of those emissions which you said were [illegible] cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited you may put this letter in the [illegible] I be[illegible] lieve me gratefully yours, THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to [illegible]

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves commendation, not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which, owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest [illegible] and although insensible to the agonies, I yet despised the miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my [illegible] While in this state, and having, previous to my [illegible] tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to attempt seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my [illegible] and of my inability to reward him for his services [illegible] of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God I was once more restored to perfect health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present, and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
